

The Garment-Making Process

A premium price is charged for garments handmade from quality Suri alpaca fibre. For these garments,

- The fibre is cleaned and prepared by hand.
- The yarn is made by hand.
- Yarn is either left with its natural colour or naturally dyed using botanical dyes from the local plants.
- The garment is designed in Judy's workshop—each design is unique to that garment.
- The garment is knitted-by-hand.

Other than the premium range, there are also quality garments designed by Judy and handmade from a mix of our handmade yarns and top-quality commercial yarns. At times silk, kid mohair and fine merino are combined with these quality alpaca yarns to enhance the garment.

As well, some garments are handmade using 100% commercially produced yarns. These garments, also with unique designs, are offered at a lower price than garments that involve fleece preparation, spinning and knitting.